

Frank's Fly Arts Fly Fishing Classes

Come learn the art of fly fishing from the ground up with local fishing guide Michael Frank of Frank's Fly Arts, Columbia's only professional fly fishing guide service!

Classes are being offered exclusively to Saluda River Club residents and guests through an agreement between the management of the Saluda River Club and Frank's Fly Arts. Each class is a comprehensive introduction to the sport of fly fishing covering everything from fly tying, fly casting, and basic entomology to fishing tactics that will allow you to find, approach, and fool fish with flies you tie yourself!

All equipment is provided including fly rods, fly tying tools, and fly tying materials. Students may keep the packet of fly tying materials, an instructional CD for tying the fly they learn, and a sample fly tied by the instructor to help them get started tying their own flies after the class! This is the most comprehensive, economical, and fun way to begin fly fishing right here on our own Saluda River!

No experience is necessary!

Four-hour classes will be held Sunday afternoons, 2:00 - 6:00pm, during the months of March through May and will cost $50 per student. Class size is limited to five participants per date to allow for individualized instruction. Only registered, pre-paid students may participate. To enroll, e-mail Michael Frank at urbanfisher@earthlink.net.

www.franksflyarts.com